Re: Price Revision for Fall Protection Products

Dear Valued Customer,

We are excited to share an important update that reflects our on-going commitment to supporting our business partnership while delivering greater value.

As part of our strategic focus on the fall protection category, we have recently re-negotiated our contracts with our suppliers. These new agreements, backed by stronger volume commitments, have allowed us to secure significantly better pricing across a range of products. This positive development not only strengthens our supply chain but also directly benefits you—our valued customer.

Effective Monday, May 12, 2025, we will be implementing this improved and competitive pricing across the fall protection category. This change ensures that every one of our customers benefits from the enhanced cost efficiencies and more competitive market offerings.

These changes reflect our on-going commitment to providing high-quality safety equipment at the best possible value. We believe these improvements will support your business goals and further strengthen our partnership. Your updated price list is attached.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to reach out to your account representative. Thank you for your continued partnership.

Best regards,
